

Amref Health Africa In Ethiopia Internship Position Announcement

Position: Intern

Program: RMNCAYH (Reproductive, Maternal, Newborn, Child and Adolescent Health)

Reports to: Depending on the role given, The Intern will report to Managers, Technical persons and Project Officers

Duration of Role: Three months

Location; Addis Ababa Country Office

Total Number of Interns Needed; One (1)

Purpose

RMNCAYH (Reproductive, Maternal, Newborn, Child and Adolescent Health) is looking for a self-motivated, intern with a passion for community health. The intern will actively work on ensuring meaningful youth engagement in RMNCAYH program

Key Responsibilities:

- Coordinate and support REACH project
- Support youth engagement in different RMNCAYH program activities
- Assist the program staff in different project implementation process
- Assist in data generation in projects, Literature and work with relevant government stake holders
- Facilitate financial and administrative procedures during trainings, meetings, workshops
- Work closely with budget holders to implement youth related activities

- Carry out awareness on MYE (Meaningful youth engagement) in Amref projects and programs
- Handle social media accounts and engage in social and community-based campaigns
- Participate in international, national and regional youth focused meetings
- Attend different youth related project review meetings and take Minutes
- Compile youth Innovative ideas to support and easily implement youth related projects
- Identify and work with regional young people to engage in youth success stories
- Undertake other duties as may be assigned by the supervisor

Qualifications and Competencies:

- Bachelor's degree from an accredited college or university in health discipline, business, Accounting, social science or any related field of study
- Volunteering experience in Youth leadership
- Zero years of work experience
- Wants to serve for the whole Internship program
- Good Communication and English Writing skill
- Good interpersonal skills
- Strong analytical, problem solving and networking skills.
- Be a team player and communicator
- Detail oriented and Responsible

Female candidates are strongly encouraged to apply for these positions!